TITLE: AN OCEAN OF PAPER

QUOTE: “Drawing makes you see things clearer, and clearer and clearer still, until your eyes ache” David Hockney

OBJECTIVES FOR THE WEEK:

Start the week with a wedge of paper and commit to yourself that you are going to use it all.

When you are looking for ideas this week, try and roughly draw them out/ explain them on paper.

Once you have built up a pile of paper full of ideas, split it into three piles: Good, need more work and park for now.

Take the good stuff and tidy it up, while you are doing this, look at the needs more work pile and see if any of these elements can be added in.

At the end of the week, look at how many ideas you have. If there are any that you have not used, but that have merit, pass these to your ideas book.
